Armed hijack: two men are arrested

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO men have been arrested in Haverhill after a police chase across Cambridgeshire and Suffolk.

Officers were investigating the hijacking of a police van. Two of their colleagues had been forced out of the van at gunpoint when they were called to a dispute in Peterborough on Tuesday.

Police said that, soon after, another car was hijacked at gunpoint and driven away towards Suffolk.

Both the van and the car were later found abandoned.

The car was left in Haverhill and police conducted a search overnight of the area close to Withersfield Road.

Robert Inman, 36, was arrested peacefully in Newton Place in the town on Wednesday morning.

A police spokesman said: "Thanks to our colleagues in Suffolk, the man was arrested peacefully early in the morning.

"There were a number of searches which we conducted throughout the night and several properties are due to be searched.

"Thankfully the incident was brought to a safe conclusion and, as far as I am aware, no-one has been injured at all."

A 30-year-old man was also arrested.

Both men were taken to Parkside police station, in Cambridge, and questioned.

Search: police cordon off a section of road in Haverhill.

Triple for Tories in high turnout

BY CHRIS ELLIOTT

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HAVERHILL voters bucked the national trend, with relatively high turnouts at last week's poll.

All three seats were Conservative victories, with new county councillor Anne Gower taking over from Karen Knight, who stepped down from the Haverhill East and Kedington seat.

Cllr Gower said: "I was very pleased with the 31.36 per cent turnout which was a lot higher than I expected it to be. Talking to people beforehand they were so disillusioned, a lot of them said they would not be voting at all."

"I would like to thank everyone who did vote and those who helped with the campaign and I would like to reassure the people of Haverhill North that I will be continuing to represent them on the borough and town councils."

In the Haverhill North seat there was an even higher turnout of 40 per cent for the two seats, with third-placed Liberal Democrat candidate Mick Graham attracting 1,023 votes.

Former Town Mayor Tim Marks retained his seat and Cllr Phillip French, who changed his alliance from being a Labour to a Conservative councillor some time ago, also retained his.

Cllr Jane Midwood retained her Clare seat for the Conservatives.

The Conservatives kept control of Suffolk County Council, while Labour's share of seats fell and in many divisions the party's candidates finished bottom of the poll – beaten by UKIP and Liberal Democrats.

UKIP's share of the votes rose dramatically, finishing in second place in some areas.

An expected backlash over the controversial switch from three-tier to two-tier education did not appear to have influenced the vote.

Former county council chairman Cllr Bill Sadler, returned to the Exning and Newmarket seat, said: "This is an endorsement of the schools organisation review."

Meanwhile, in Cambridge, Labour was all but wiped out, seeing its four seats on the county council cut to just two, with one of its seats being captured by the Green Party.

The Green Party representative – ex-Labour leader of the city council, Simon Sedgwick-Jell – beat Labour's leader on the county council, Paul Sales, in Abbey ward.

Labour also lost in Cambridge's King's Hedges ward.

Before polling day, the balance of power was Conservatives 42, Liberal Democrats 23 and Labour 4.

The Lib Dems and Conservatives made gains and losses to each other, but kept their overall stakes the same.

The state of the parties now is Conservatives 42, Lib Dems Youngest candidate: Shannon Revel.

23, Labour two, and Green one, with one seat still vacant due to the death of candidate Ray Powell, at Ramsey.

The overall turnout for the county was 39 per cent, slightly up on the last election four years ago.

At Linton, the county's youngest candidate, 18-year-old Shannon Revel, failed to unseat Lib Dem John Batchelor, finishing third.

Howitt holds on in Euro poll

LABOUR MEP Richard Howitt survived in the European election as the balance of power remained unchanged in the Eastern region.

Mr Howitt kept his Cambridge-based seat, holding off the challenge of Rupert Read of the Green Party.

The remaining six seats were shared by the dominant Conservatives, UKIP and the Liberal Democrats.

More than 90 candidates fought it out for the seven Eastern region seats.

As well as the big three political parties – the Tories, Labour and the Lib Dems – 11 other groups were involved together with one independent candidate.

Before polling day, the region had three Conservative MEPs, two UKIP MEPs, one Labour MEP and one Liberal Democrat. The situation now is exactly the same.

Barton farmer, writer and broadcaster Robin Page, standing for the anti-EU United Kingdom First party, failed to get elected.

Successful Lib Dem candidate Andrew Duff said: "We have fought an extremely hard campaign and have been frustrated at the distraction caused by the scandals in the Commons.

"It has clouded the debate so that we haven't been able to campaign on the important issues that confront the public, such as the economic crash, climate change and international organised crime.

"But I don't think we will see a General Election this year. I will be astonished if they push Brown out, because his successor will be obliged to have an election and they will lose it."

UKIP's lead candidate David Campbell Bannerman said: "We have fought on the issues, including that the EU is costing us £40 million a day, and that we need to get back control of our borders and our laws.

"Those messages have gone down very well."

Mr Howitt said: "All of the major parties faced losses of support due to the expenses scandal.

"I'm passionate about my work and the community I serve, and that's why I stood for re-election.

"We have achieved a great deal of European funding for our region, and I am deeply proud of that."

Conservative Geoffrey Van Orden said: "Sadly, the issues have not really been discussed in any depth. This was an election about keeping faith with the electorate and about change.

"I think there is a great desire for change."

Former local councillor Vicky Ford, another of the successful Conservative candidates, said: "I am delighted. I am the first woman to represent the Eastern region in the European Parliament."

The count for the Eastern region, which had an average turnout of 38 per cent, was held at the St Ivo Leisure Centre in St Ives.

■ The Eastern region's MEPs are: Geoffrey Van Orden (Con), Robert Sturdy (Con), Vicky Ford (Con), David Campbell Bannerman (UKIP), John Agnew (UKIP), Andrew Duff (Lib Dem), Richard Howitt (Labour).

A SALVATION Army group is carrying out a survey on a town housing estate to see how best to help people living there.

Jonathan Wylie has been leading the Haverhill Salvation Army church from its base in Chauntry Road, Haverhill, for almost a year and will be leading the survey team, calling on homes on the Clements estate on Tuesday during the day and early evening. He said: "We will be asking 10 or 12 questions basically asking people about their perceptions of community they live in and what they think the Salvation Army could do to help."

Children are targeted by strangers on street

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THREE incidents of youngsters being accosted in Haverhill within a week have been reported to police.

Officers are now looking into whether the attacks are linked.

A Suffolk Police spokesman encouraged parents to report any similar incidents and said the youngsters in all three cases had done the right thing and run off.

At 10.30am on Saturday, a 10-year-old girl cycling along Millfields Way saw a man waiting at a bus stop.

As she passed him, he made remarks to her.

On Monday, the same man was seen sitting in a silver blue small car in the parking area at the bottom of Dalham Place. The girl walked past the vehicle and the man followed her, again making a remark as she ran off.

Previously, also in Millfields Way, at around 8am on Wednesday June 3, a 13-year-old girl was approached by a man in a red car, who demanded that she get in. She refused and ran off.

This man is described as white, in his 20s, with short dark brown hair and was wearing light-coloured jeans and a short-sleeved shirt.

The following day, at Burton End, Haverhill, at around 8.25am, a 13-year-old boy walked along the road, when he was approached by a man who threatened him verbally. The boy ran off.

The man is described white, around 50 years old, tall and of 'skinny' build. He had long, grey hair with curls, brown eyes, stubble on his face and was wearing a black jacket and jeans.

Anyone with information about the Millfields Way incidents is asked to call PC Richard Oldroyd at Haverhill Police Station on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Calls in relation to the Burton End incident should be made to PC William Wright at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

The police spokesman added: "We are encouraging people to give us a call if they see or hear anything suspicious or their children tell them of anything like this." He said as the descriptions of the two offenders were different in the first two incidents they had not initially linked them. However, following the third incident, officers would be investigating whether any of them were linked.

Determined: Vicky Blott with Barry Miller and Murphy.

Vicky wants a dog's life

A SCHOOLGIRL who bombarded her local police station with requests for information about becoming a police dog handler was invited along to meet experienced handler Barry Miller and his dog, Murphy.

Vicky Blott, 13, is a pupil at Linton Village College and has had her own English Springer Spaniel, Sam, for the past five years.

Vicky's letters to Haverhill police station were received by admin clerk Roz Hendriks, and she arranged for the meeting with Mr Miller, who has been a dog handler for 13 years, after serving for 14 years in the police force in Haverhill.

Roz said: "She has been communicating with me for a while now, but she has so many questions that could not be answered in a leaflet. I suggested that she came to the police station to meet a dog handler and his dog, and Barry agreed to do this for her."

The youngster, of Hanchett Grange, Haverhill, was given the day off to go to Haverhill police station with her dad Ray. She said the visit had confirmed her desire to follow a career in dog handling.

New group to tackle obesity

A NEW steering group is being formed in Haverhill to make sure that help to tackle obesity is getting through to those who need it.

Caroline Tomes, a health improvement facilitator for Suffolk Primary Care Trust, visited the Haverhill Partnership Group Forum on Monday to tell its members about the new programme she has launched and to appeal for willing volunteers within the community, as well as professionals, to join in.

The new programme, entitled 'Tackling Obesity through Community and Clinical Engagement' is a collaboration with Suffolk partners and the Improvement Foundation.

A 12-month timescale will be set, with the objectives of improving breast feeding and early years nutrition, supporting GPs in the management and treatment of obesity-related conditions and working with commissioners to develop locally-based services for reducing and controlling weight.

To launch the scheme, an orientation event will be held on Friday, June 19, at Haverhill Arts Centre from noon to 2pm, where everyone is welcome and refreshments will be provided.

It is hoped to find people to join the Haverhill steering group, which will meet monthly.

This group will also be travelling up to Manchester for a 'Learning Workshop', where members will have the chance to meet others involved in the project around the country, as well as developing knowledge, skills and expertise in weight management.

All expenses and accommodation will be paid for and all that is required is a commitment of two to three hours per month.

To find out more, contact Caroline on 07904 204712 or Caroline.Tomes@suffolkpct.nhs.uk

Daredevil Jamie goes up the wall

DAREDEVIL Jamie Tyrell is about to become one of the youngest Wall of Death riders.

Jamie, 16, is no stranger to the gravity-defying stunt, having grown up with veteran Wall of Death showmen Ken and Julie Fox, close friends of her family, and taking spins as a pillion passenger or sitting on the handlebars of a motorcycle.

She has shelved plans to go to college – as soon as she finishes her GCSEs at the end of the month she will be off travelling the length and breadth of the country as one of the stars of the Ken Fox Wall of Death Troupe.

Jamie, from Haverhill, said not many of her friends and only one of her teachers knew of her secret skill and had been shocked to learn about it.

She said: "I really love it, it is just like the thrill of doing something that no one else can do."

"My first memory of it was when I was about five and I first rode on handlebars when I was about eight. Ken started to teach me how to ride by myself when I was 12 and I have been doing it ever since in my school holidays and at weekends.

BY JO DEEKS

"I have never been scared of it and I don't even feel dizzy afterwards."

"I cannot wait to get going as soon as I have finished my exams."

Proud mum Corrine Bird, of Primrose Hill, said she and partner Mark Tyrell supported Jamie's decision and were sure she would be in safe hands.

Corrine said: "We have been friends with Ken and Julie for 20 years and she has grown up with it."

"It is what she loves to do and it is such a wonderful opportunity for her."

"She is only young and if it does not work out, she can always do something else."

"Her riding partner, Alex Fox, is only 14 and we believe they will be the youngest pair ever to ride the Wall of Death."

Jamie, a former Castle Manor Arts and Technology College pupil, can be seen performing at the Rougham wings air show, near Bury St Edmunds, on June 27 and 28.

Desperately seeking head teacher for learning in life

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

SCHOOL governors are using a "lonely hearts"-style approach to find their perfect match in a new headteacher.

Current head Andy Richbell has been at Ridgewell Primary School, near Haverhill, for five years but is moving to a new post in Sussex.

Sarah Howard, chairman of governors, said they had decided to try something different to attract a new head to the small village school, which recently won praise from Ofsted inspectors.

The ad used by the school is entitled Are you out there? It reads: "Popular, attractive, small but bubbly village school (138 years old) on the Essex/Suffolk/Cambridge-shire border, seeks new headteacher for fun, friendship and learning for life.

"We are: enthusiastic, happy, keen to learn. You are: senior teacher or deputy headteacher with GSOH, energy and vision."

Mrs Howard said: "It is the governors' responsibility to recruit headteachers and such jobs are very hard to fill.

"There are currently around 27 per cent of vacancies unfilled. It is a tough market out there so you have to stand out. Our school is very forward-thinking and imaginative and has a lot to offer a teacher looking for their first headship.

"We thought that this might work as it shows our sense of humour, a good balance between the fun and the serious, and should grab people's attention.

"We've carried this through to the recruitment pack. The children have been involved in the process, putting forward what they think is good about our school, writing a letter to the candidates and telling us what they want from a headteacher."

The advertisement was published in the Times Educational Supplement. The school said previous adverts had failed to attract any response but the new tactic was already proving to be effective.

Charity golf classic invites you to join tee-off

GOLFERS will be teeing off later this month for a charity event which has netted more than £100,000 for good causes over the past decade or so – and there is still time to join them.

The Haverhill Charity Golf Classic, organised in association with the Haverhill Weekly News, will take place at Haverhill Golf Club on Saturday, June 27, with the first tee off at 8am.

So far 30 teams of four have signed up for the event and organisers would welcome a few more.

Haverhill Golf Club and Haverhill Rotary Club have joined forces for the past four years to run the event, which last year raised £14,000.

It was also a major contributor to the Weekly News' St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, which raised £40,000 in just over a year to allow patients in the Haverhill area to receive services in their own homes. This year's event, sponsored by MJ Pipe, Suffolk Insurance and Printwise, is in aid of St Nicholas Hospice and the Rotaries Charity Fund, which distributes cash to local groups.

Entertainment will be provided in the evening by "Lancashire Laughing Machine" Lester Crabtree, plus a charity auction.

Chris Briggs, president of Haverhill Golf Club, said: "We decided to choose the hospice again because they do such a good job and they need every penny.

"We would still like a few more teams to join us.

"It is a great day out for golfers and raises a lot of money for good causes at the same time."

Anyone interested in taking part in the event or donating raffle or auction prizes should contact Chris at Haverhill Golf Club on (01440) 761951.

John Mayhew of HET software (right) signing the AS$2million contract with the CEO of their new Australian client.

Specialists expand overseas

A SPECIALIST software company from Haverhill is encouraging others to follow in its footsteps by successfully expanding their companies into overseas markets.

HET Software, a specialist software company for the homecare sector, is one of a number of business leaders in Suffolk using World Trade Week (June 8-12) to encourage others to look at overseas trade opportunities.

HET provides a range of solutions to enhance business effectiveness for homecare providers. It has started to sell its range of applications to the Australian market with considerable success, winning contracts with a number of high profile customers and culminating in a recent AS$2million (approximately £1m) contract. The company puts much of its success down to the support provided through a UK Trade and Investment programme called Passport to Export which is delivered by East of England International.

John Mayhew, chief executive of HET Software, said: "Local businesses should take advantage of the excellent opportunities that are available to them to get a foothold in international markets. EEI's international trade adviser Paul Sharpe has been very helpful each step of the way in helping us develop our overseas trade."

East of England International, the delivery arm of UK Trade and Investment for the East of England, is encouraging local businesses to take up opportunities to investigate and expand into overseas markets through programmes they offer such as Passport to Export and

'Gateway to Global Growth'.

Aimed at new and inexperienced exporters, UKTI's Passport to Export programme offers free capability assessments, support in visiting potential markets, mentoring from a local export professional, free action plans, customised and subsidised training, and ongoing support throughout your exporting journey. The programme puts together, in one simple process, all the tools exporting companies need to grow their business.

Fraud paid for gambling debt

A TRUSTED store manager committed a string of frauds to help finance his gambling addiction, a court has heard.

Dean Holmes, 26, carried out fake refunds at the Haverhill Argos store but was caught when his boss became suspicious and carried out checks and reviewed CCTV records.

Ipswich Crown Court heard how Holmes had worked at the store for seven years and risen through the ranks to become stock manager.

At times he acted as duty manager and had access to the till system.

Holmes was ordered to remain under Probation Service supervision for 12 months, carry out 150 hours of unpaid community work and pay £60 towards the cost of the prosecution.

His fraudulent activities were discovered in December last year when he recorded a refund for a £449 television set.

Godfried Duah, prosecuting, said the store manager could find no postcode to allow the person claimed to have been given the cash to be traced, and there was no sign of the TV set.

After CCTV recordings were viewed and records showing who had access to the till at the time the claimed refund was made were checked, the store manager called in the police.

Mr Duah said that when interviewed, Holmes had made a full admission, saying he needed money to pay for his gambling.

Holmes, of Ditton Fields, Cambridge, had also admitted that it was not the first time that he had fraudulently obtained money while working at the Argos store, obtaining in total £3,290.

Holmes pleaded guilty to six offences of fraud through use of his position and asked for five similar offences to be taken into consideration.

Jeremy Kendall said that Holmes, who had no previous convictions, had needed money to finance his gambling addiction. Mr Kendall said: "As a result of the shock of being arrested and being before a court he has severely curtailed that."

Judge John Holt said: "You used your position as stock manager to issue false refunds. You were caught and once caught you made full admissions. It seems the reason for your offending was that you have a gambling addiction and are considerably in debt."

Judge Holt said it was obvious that the offending had been out of character.

Promise on clinic visits

THE practice manager of a new walk-in clinic at Haverhill has denied that patients could be "struck off" by their existing doctor's practice if they visit it more than three times.

Nigel Dransfield, practice manager of the Crown Health Centre, which opened its doors for the first time last Wednesday at a temporary building in a car park off Withersfield Road, was welcomed to the town at Monday's meeting of the Haverhill Partnership Forum.

The new clinic will be based there for the next three years while a site is identified and a permanent building put up to house it. Its arrival has been surrounded by controversy, with many of the town's existing doctors complaining that it offers no new services and will threaten the viability of their practices by taking patients away.

Mr Dransfield stressed that it was not true that anyone who visited the clinic three times would have to register as a patient and could no longer continue to be a patient with their existing doctor.

He said: "Almost every patient who has walked through the door has asked about this and it is simply not true. You can come as many times as you wish as a walk-in patient and not be struck off by your existing doctor's surgery."

"As well as extended hours we will be open on Saturday and Sunday for people who do not have time to visit their GP in the week.

"It is our wish to work with and complement existing health facilities in Haverhill and we will be liaising with existing surgeries."

'Golden moment' for home buyers

BY JOHN DOWNING

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

IT IS the potential fillip first-time buyers have been waiting for – house price affordability is at a six-year high.

New research from website propertyfinder.com has claimed that house prices in many parts of the East of England were more affordable in May 2009 than at any time since early 2003.

The survey analysed Land Registry data and earnings figures from National Statistics to create up to date house price to income ratios.

In Cambridge the ratio is 7.94, in East Cambridgeshire 7.12, in South Cambridgeshire 6.58, in Huntingdonshire 6.15 and in Fenland it is 5.51 – but in all five districts, the survey finds houses are more affordable now than at any time since 2003 or 2004.

Nicholas Leeming, director of propertyfinder.com, said:

Confident: Chris Carey, of Bidwells estate agents.

"There are extraordinary opportunities emerging in some parts of the country to buy homes cheaper than at any time in almost 10 years.

"With homes having risen less even than general prices in the economy, people will look back to 2009/10 as a golden moment to get onto the property ladder or trade up to a larger home."

But he added: "Lenders

Prices up: says Martin Walshe, of Cheffins.

need to unleash the flow of funding to allow new entrants into the market and existing borrowers to refinance at competitive rates."

Chris Carey, head of residential at estate agents Bidwells, said: "Affordability is a significant factor. Rents look high compared with mortgage payments with low interest rates.

"In the second quarter of this year we have seen an improvement in the level of transactions and there is confidence the market has bottomed out.

"There is some evidence that house prices have risen by 5 per cent over the last quarter of 2008, particularly in Cambridge and the surrounding areas."

Martin Walshe, senior residential director at estate agents Cheffins, which has branches across the region, said buyers are coming back "in droves".

He said: "Prices are no longer falling – they are edging up.

"Demand is increasing and supply is decreasing.

"This is primarily down to people's perceptions of the market and that because of the worldwide recession, it is a bad time to sell a house.

"But in the last six weeks, people feel the market has bottomed out and they are seeing value for money."

Business exhibition gives firms chance to network

BUSINESSES will have the chance to showcase their wares at the Haverhill Enterprise Business 2 Business exhibition.

This year's event will be held at the newly-refurbished Haverhill Leisure Centre on October 16 and 17.

Exhibition organiser Barry Edwards said: "These are two important dates for anyone who operates in the B2B sector, either as a provider of services or products, or for the numerous buyers who are seeking a solution."

In partnership with solicitors Adams Harrison, and St Edmundsbury Borough Council, the exhibition promises to be a major event for the town.

It is also an opportunity for anyone who is seeking to work for a local company to find out more about them and what they have to offer, as well as understanding the types of skills and experience they are looking for.

Haverhill Enterprise group chairman Richard Herbert said: "Haverhill Enterprise is a group of local business people with a very clear aim to continually promote and develop Haverhill as a town of business excellence.

"The businesses that operate in Haverhill are extremely diverse, and many of them very specialised. We have all been through some challenging and difficult times over the past few months and now, with albeit very early signs of some economic recovery starting to take place, it is time to again promote what we each have to offer."

New to the exhibition this year is a 'Meet the Buyer' event which will provide an opportunity to meet the important decision makers in some of the larger companies in the town.

In addition a series of mini seminars organised by Adams Harrison to provide advice and help on a range of topics will also be held during the event.

More details can be found on the Haverhill Enterprise website at www.haverhillenterprise.co.uk

A limited amount of trade stand space will be available, to reserve either telephone exhibition organiser Barry Edwards on (01440) 711460 or e-mail b2b@haverhillenterprise.co.uk

'Life is hard, but it's for living – and you have to get on with it'

Happier times: Joan on her wedding day with husband Dennis.

HUNCHED over the kitchen table, sipping a cup of cold milk, little Joan Harness didn't dare move. Aged just 6, she was living in constant fear – in an Irish institution where she suffered both physical and sexual abuse.

"I used to go into the kitchen at 11am every day, to have a cup of milk and a crust of toast," remembers Joan, now 67. "There was a woman who worked in there and one day, for no reason at all, she grabbed my hand and put it on the Rayburn; it burned; it was really sore."

"She did that more than once, when she could get me on my own. And she also took my hand and put it where she shouldn't: she did that seven or eight times, that I can remember."

"I was scared. And I was crying. But I didn't tell anyone about it – I didn't talk at all until I was about 9."

"Over the years, you do get over it. But you never forget."

Joan, who lives in St Ives, decided to speak out in the wake of recent

Sent to a brutal Irish institution aged 6, Joan endured both physical and sexual abuse. When she herself had children, she lost her 5-year-old son to cancer. But, despite all she's been through, the 67 year old is determined to live a happy life, as ALICE RYAN discovers.

revelations about widespread child abuse in Irish reform schools: hitting the headlines, with abuse said to have taken place in Catholic institutions across Ireland, from the 1930s right through to the 1990s.

To see her now – chatty and outgoing, with an easy smile – it's awe-inspiring to think how far Joan has come; despite the traumas of her childhood, hers is clearly a full and happy life.

A mother and grandmother, she dotes on all the children: the walls of her sitting room are lined with family photos.

"I've got a lovely family, I'm very lucky," she adds. "And I don't feel my age at all. I'm going to be 68 in August, but I don't feel that old inside. The years have gone by so quickly."

Born in 1941, the only child of a Catholic couple, the early years of Joan's life were far from easy.

Living in rural Ireland, on a smallholding, her parents had an unhappy marriage. "My dad used to drink a lot," explains Joan.

"There wasn't much money and what he had he spent on drink rather than food. When I was about 5 months old, my mum left and went back to live with her parents and her invalid sister, on their smallholding."

With her mum busy working, both on the farm and in the house, Joan describes her childhood as very lonely. "Nobody ever spoke in our house," she explains. "Nobody talked. That's just the way it was. And I didn't know any other kids. I didn't like my grandmother at all and my aunt was an invalid – she broke her back when she was only three years old."

"The only happy memories I have are of my grandad. We had a mare who was always getting out, and he used to take me out with him to fetch her... I enjoyed that."

But Joan has some very disturbing memories which still, she admits, trouble her today. Once, after a rare trip out with a kindly couple, who lived nearby, she returned home to find her beloved pet Labrador dead – hanging from a sycamore tree at the front of the house.

A woman had, she discovered, accused the dog of biting her. And so someone, most likely Joan's uncle, had dispatched it.

"The dog might have nipped her but it wasn't a bite, there was no blood," says Joan, who had actually witnessed the alleged incident.

"I would only have been 5 and I loved that dog. All I could think was: 'Who could ever do something so vicious?'"

Mute until the age of 9, Joan was enrolled at the residential school in 1947, aged six and a half. Unusually for the time, it was open to both Catholics and Protestants, boys and girls. All had their own troubles.

The buzzing and rippling acoustic group, which celebrates the diverse history of African Ancestral music, derives its name from a word in the Shona language that means "people let's get together". Machinery taken from car park FOUR items of plant equipment were stolen from a building site at Haverhill on Sunday night. Two men were seen to approach the fenced-in site, in the Lower Down Slade car park, in a blue Vauxhall Cavalier just after 8.30pm. They forced entry, a container was broken into and four items of equipment were taken. Police are appealing for information from anyone who saw the Cavalier, or who has information about the incident. They should call Pc Cheryl Claydon at Haverhill Police Station on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Inquiry into rejected wind farm scheme

A PUBLIC inquiry has begun into controversial proposals for a wind farm near West Wrating.

The inquiry comes after renewable energy firm Renewable Energy Systems (RES) appealed against a decision by South Cambridgeshire District Council to reject plans for the scheme at Wadlow Farm, which would see 13 120-metre turbines built on farmland near the village.

The district council rejected the proposal in June 2007, saying the potential benefits did not outweigh the damage the scheme would do to the surrounding landscape.

Amy Bambridge, community relations officer at RES, said: "We were very disappointed when the local council turned down the project,

BY SUZAN UZEL and LAURA JEAN MORRIS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

as we showed quite clearly that this was the best site in that area for a wind farm.

"For targets to be met for renewable energy, projects like that need to go ahead."

Mrs Bambridge said the wind farm would power 16,000 homes per year – taking into account fluctuations in wind.

She added: "It will be up to the planning inspector and we are hoping a fair decision will be made."

Cllr Mark Russell, chairman of West Wrating Parish Council, which objected to the application along with several other parish councils in the area, said: "The main reason everyone objected to it is that it is the wrong sort of thing for the wrong place."

"Everyone is in favour of renewable energy, but only when it is in the correct place. Offshore wind farms are better than onshore ones."

The inquiry will continue next week at South Cambridgeshire District Council's offices in Cambourne.

Members of the public are encouraged to go along and observe at any time.

The inspector has set aside time during the inquiry on Tuesday for members of the public to present their concerns to him.

This session will be held at West Wickham Village Hall and will start at 4pm.

The inspector will visit the site next Thursday, and a blimp will be flown to illustrate the height of the proposed turbines.

crew to medical emergencies in their communities, such as a cardiac arrest, but because of their close proximity, may reach the patient first, starting assessment and treatment earlier, increasing the chances of patient survival.

Group co-ordinator,

Margaret Marks, said: "We are a close-knit team and although we come from different backgrounds, we have a common interest in helping the people within our community, in any life-threatening medical emergency."

"We aim to provide 24/7 cover and welcome more members to help achieve this. There is no minimum commitment – whatever time you can give to the scheme is welcomed and this does not have to be the same each week or month."

All training is provided. To become a Community First Responder, call Sam on (01480) 371060 or for the Haverhill Scheme, call Margaret Marks on (01440) 713443.

POWER HOBBIES

A model shop with oomph!

TOM Peachey will turn his hobby into a career when his new shop, Power Hobbies opens this Saturday.

The 25-year-old from

Owner Tom Peachey: Delighted to be opening Power Hobbies.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Haverhill is a fan of all things radio-controlled and his business will offer people from Haverhill and the surrounding areas a place to buy the equipment from.

"I thought it would be good to have a shop in Haverhill for adults who have never grown up," says Tom. "I used to be a mechanic but I really didn't enjoy it and now I'm doing what I've always wanted to do which is to own my own model shop."

"My sister runs C&B Beautiful which is also in Haverhill and she's given me lots of advice about running my own business."

Power Hobbies specialises in radio controlled cars and aircraft and stocks popular brands such as JR and Futaba radios, HPI and Traxxas trucks and Ansmann and Xray trucks.

Customers will also find a range of accessories such as building material, radio gear and engines.

To mark the opening of Power Hobbies this Saturday, Tom will be holding a truck demonstration outside the shop from 10am.

Tom adds: "Some model shops can be quite old fashioned and cramped but Power Hobbies is really modern and spacious and everything we've got in stock is on display so customers can go straight to the item they are looking for."

Power Hobbies offers items to meet the needs of model enthusiasts of all ages from children who are just getting into the hobby to adults who have been collecting items for many years.

Customers are also welcome to take their new radio controlled car to the club to put it through its

Join Alice and friends for trip to Wonderland

AN OPEN-AIR production of children's favourite Alice's Adventures in Wonderland will visit Haverhill later this month.

Cambridge Touring Theatre – a vibrant family theatre company, bursting with energy and enthusiasm – takes to the road for a seventh successful year with the lively and often hilarious performance.

It will visit Haverhill's East Town Park in Coupals Road on Saturday,

BY JO DEEKS

June 27, from 5-7pm.

The group performs family theatre at some of the most picturesque spots in the country. Its members sing, dance, steal audience members' sandwiches and spray them with water.

This year, they will also launch a programme of drama workshops aimed at 5-12 year olds, which will run alongside the performance. These last 45 minutes and will work with the children on the story of Alice, taking them through some of her adventures in Wonderland.

Written in 1865 by Lewis Carroll, the story follows Alice as she travels through a remarkable world, where she meets strange and curious creatures.

Along with Alice there is the White Rabbit, Dodo, Duck and Daisy, the Duchess, the Queen of Hearts, the Cheshire Cat and the Mad Hatter. A smelly ferret also seems to have escaped from a previous show.

Audience members are invited to bring a picnic and share in the fun.

The group is headed by Rosie Humphreys, who moved to Cambridge after working for the English National Opera in London. She said: "We have a very strong family feel to the company. All performers are chosen because they enjoy working with families."

Tickets – priced at £7.50 for adults, £5 for children, or £20 for a family – are on sale at the Haverhill Arts Centre box office on (01440) 714140 or by visiting www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk or www.cambridgetouringtheatre.co.uk.

Wonderful journey: with Cambridge Touring Theatre's Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, which is currently touring the region.

Your silver-tongued gift of the gab is highlighted this week making it a great time to strike up a conversation with a mysterious newcomer. The two of you hit it off like strawberries and cream. A social outing may be cancelled, so it's wise to have a plan B in place.

Double the classics with piano twins

CLASSICAL music fans can look forward to some high notes with duo-pianists The Cann Twins, who will play at the Haverhill Arts Centre tomorrow night. Claire and Antoinette's programme includes classical favourites from Vienna and Russia, all in a candle-lit style setting.

As a special treat, the twins will be joined by the Barnardiston Preparatory School Choir.

The concert starts at 7.30pm.

■ Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College band, Nice Manors, will join forces with professional keyboard player Chris Stanbury at the arts centre on Sunday at 2pm for a mixed and lively programme.

■ Showcasing the voices of the Haverhill Choral Society, Music for a Summer's Evening will include Barbers' Agnus Dei, Brahms' Liebesslieder Walzer and on a lighter note, the classic In The Mood.

The choir will be directed by Jane Wright and accompanied by Edward Dodge. It starts at the arts centre at 7.30pm on Sunday.

■ Haverhill Postcards on Film is a virtual tour of old Haverhill via the postcard collection of the late Brian Pannell and is sure to be of interest to all Haverhill locals. Come along to the arts centre on Thursday, June 18 at 7.30pm for a trip down memory lane.

■ Clint Eastwood stars on the centre's big screen as veteran Walt in Gran Torino (15) tonight at 7.45pm. When his East Asian teenage neighbour attempts to steal his Gran Torino, Walt discovers that the only way to lay his painful memories of the Korean War to rest is to face his own blinding prejudice head-on.

■ Arguably the most important documentary of 2009, Pete Postlethwaite is a man living in the environmental wasteland of 2055. In The Age of Stupid (12A), he looks back at footage from 2008 and asks: Why didn't we save ourselves when we had the chance? It screens at the arts centre next Wednesday at 7.45pm.

Handel helps music festival make a splash

MAKING Water Music is the big splash that launches the Fifth Sawston Music Festival on Friday, June 19.

Global performers, The Brook Street Band's workshop for accompanied 5 to 11 year olds kicks off at 4.30pm.

Later in the church from 7.30pm, the band will give a concert, Mad Songs and Englishmen, tapping into the 17th-18th century fashion for theatrical and "mad" music with works by Handel and Purcell.

Saturday sees a distinctly Swedish spin revolving around the Abba tribute movie Mamma Mia at the Sawston Youth Centre. At 4pm is a family workshop to learn the songs, then from 5.30pm the screening party begins with balloons, party nibbles, a licensed bar, and prizes for best 70s themed eccentric dress.

For the festival finale in St Mary's Church at 7.30pm on Sunday, June 21, The Company of Musicians, join the Hills Road Sixth Form College orchestra to perform Mozart's unfinished Mass in C Minor.

The performance will premiere village Mozart expert Dr Richard Maunder's latest reworking of the mass. Dr Maunder will also give a pre-concert talk at 6.30pm, which is free to concert ticket-holders.

A tangled web for favourite TV nurse

BY LOUISE CUMMINGS

TAKE one hearty, country lass, add a booming voice, patronising air, pair of comedy jodhpurs and an air of cartoon and you have actress Catherine Shipton's latest incarnation – the somewhat overbearing Mildred Peake.

It's a far cry from her best-known role as Nurse Duffy in Casualty, but Catherine is relishing the chance to play the rather posh gardener in Agatha Christie's Spider's Web.

"This is the first out and out comedy character I've played and it's very liberating; as a performer it is great to stretch yourself. I'm exercising my comedy muscles at last," she laughs.

So convincing is Catherine that some of her close friends have sat through a performance and not even realised she was starring.

The plot of Spider's Web is, on the face of it, typically Agatha Christie. On a rainy evening in Kent, Clarissa Hailsham-Brown discovers a body in the drawing room and, fearing people will think she is the murderer, sets about trying to dispose of it before her Foreign Office diplomat husband returns home with a VIP in tow. Drawing her house-guests into the web of deceit, she turns sleuth to solve the murder before the police.

There are dark moments as the play touches on drug dealing, cocaine abuse and a child whose life has been ruined by her mother's addiction, but there are moment of hilarious lunacy.

"Audiences will be surprised because it has such a great strand of comic potential. Once they realise there is going to be quite a lot of laughter in it, it transforms the whole evening and they get to do a bit of sleuthing and have a good laugh – two for one!" she laughs.

Catherine is part of a star-studded cast touring the country in the production, alongside the likes of Denis Lill (The Royal), Melanie Gutteridge (Pc Emma Keane in The Bill), Ben Nealon (Soldier Soldier) and Mark Wynter.

It's currently playing at Cambridge Arts Theatre.

"I held back from doing tours because of my daughter. After Casualty, I decided 'I'm going home to be mum' so for five years I did that. She's eight now so old enough to be OK with it."

Returning to theatre has been a breath of fresh air for Catherine.

"Nothing can beat it," she enthuses.

"To get the audience's reaction is fantastic, no matter how tired you are and no matter what's happened in your day."

Spider's Web plays at the Cambridge Arts Theatre nightly until Saturday from 7.45pm, with a Saturday matinee from 2.30pm. Tickets are priced £19-27. Call (01223) 503333 or visit www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

Raise temperatures with a tropical patio

It's your last chance to plant up your summer containers to give them long enough to root down and provide the colour you need to last the season.

And, if you're not going away this year, you might like to bring the exotic to your patio.

Broad-leaved cannas, hostas, deep orange dahlias, fiery crocosmias and bulbs such as gloriosa will all add heat, while sculptural plants such as Fatsia japonica, palms, cordyline and phormium bring a touch of the tropics.

Put sun-loving palms and succulents in the hottest spots, and position shade-tolerant plants, such as hostas, beneath the canopies of large-leaved plants.

Remember, though, that some of your plants such as cannas and bananas are tender and will need extra care to overwinter them.

Tropical styles tend to look best in urban situations and work well with modern accessories. With exotic schemes the emphasis is on the bold plants, not the pots.

Good backdrops include: Thryacarpus wagnerianus, a neater version of the Chusan palm ('T. fortunei'), with smaller, stiffer leaves, able to withstand a windy site; or Chamaerops humilis, a slow-growing dwarf fan palm which comes from south Europe but is happy in colder areas.

Tropical scenes need careful, sparing use of really vibrant colour from plants such as Red hot poker (Kniphofia), ginger lilies (Hedychium) and cannas.

Good varieties include 'C. striata', which has 45cm (18in)

by Hannah Stephenson

paddle-shaped, green and yellow striped leaves and produces sizzling orange flowers in midsummer. The rich orange flowers and variegated leaves of 'C. pretoria' create an exotic feel and another good choice is 'C. president', which produces scarlet blooms, or the golden yellow 'King Midas'. Cannas need loads of humus and do well in large pots in a sheltered, sunny spot.

Alternatively, go for small pots of sizzling scarlet geraniums in front of larger foliage plants.

Vibrant ornamental grasses can also be used in tropical schemes such as Imperata cylindrica 'Rubra', which makes a clump of bright green leaves whose tips turn blood red and then the rest of the leaves follow suit, reddening almost to the base. Fluffy silvery-white flowers appear late in the summer. This one needs fertile, moist soil rich in humus and should be placed in full sun or part shade. You'll need to mulch it in winter if it is to survive.

Try to keep each pot reasonably simple, giving stand-alone space to foliage specimens such as hostas and palms. Place your architectural plants such as cannas, cordylines or phormiums in the middle of the pot and fill the gaps in front with smaller flowering plants to complement.

Then, on those hot summer days when you're sitting on your patio, you'll feel like you could be a million miles away.

BEST OF THE BUNCH – Lupin

No mixed border should be without these impressive spires of flowers in a variety of colours.

There are many varieties of Russell Hybrids – tall ones to stick towards the back of the border, or smaller types to be used as fillers. They are easy to grow from seed and will thrive in sun or partial shade, flowering in June, but protect young plants from slugs, which love them.

Bigger types will need staking in exposed gardens in rich soil. Deadhead once they have flowered to encourage a second floral flush.

Lupins have a relatively short flowering period, so plant the tall ones at the back of the border with Japanese anemones to hide the fading foliage. Smaller varieties, such as 'Gallery Series', can be planted between shrubs and evergreen ground cover. Good tall varieties include the Band of Nobles series, while if you want a dwarf variety look out for 'Gallery Series' and 'Lulu', both of which are a mixture of colours.

GOOD ENOUGH TO EAT – Peas

If your peas are in flower now, they are at risk from pea moth, which lays its eggs in June and July.

You won't notice them until you open the pods and find that one or more of them have been attacked by a small white grub, usually still inside the pod. To avoid pea moth, make early sowings which flower in May and early June, or later sowings which flower after July. Alternatively, grow mangetout, to pick before the peas develop.

Pea and bean weevils can also be a problem early in spring, nibbling notches out of young leaves, but don't generally cause serious harm and won't need controlling.

If you have gaps in your rows of peas it may be due to mice. Start peas off in pots or sow extra seeds to fill the gaps later.

THREE WAYS TO... be imaginative with climbers

1. Use an old garden umbrella, stripped of fabric, for a climbing frame, with deep violet Clematis 'Jackmanii Superba' at its base.
2. Erect tall poles every six feet (1.8m) or so along the garden fence, attaching thick rope between them to form elegant swags. Plant rambling roses, Jasminum officinale, honeysuckle and Clematis montana at the base of poles, guiding them along the swags to create swathes of colour.
3. Use climbers to scramble over uninteresting shrubs in the border – clematis will happily climb up conifers and other evergreens, creating colour. Use late-flowering viticellus with spring-flowering shrubs and early-flowering alpinas and macropetalas with later-flowering ones. Sweet peas can also scramble over shrubs.

YOUR LOCAL LETTING AGENTS

Why sell the traditional way?

Get Estate Agents to value it and put it on the market.

Show people around the property (mostly "nosy parkers" & sightseers).

If no offers received after 2 or 3 months, reduce price.

Show more people around.

Eventually accept an offer at between 5 & 10% off the advertised price.

Hope the sale doesn't fall through (over 30% of sales don't reach completion).

Once price agreed, wait a further 3 months for sale to complete.

Work out how many £000s it has cost you in reducing the price, making mortgage payments, paying Estate Agents fees and legal fees since you started the process (on average, 7 months ago...)

Sell your property the CXG way...

The simple alternative

- Pay no Estate Agent's fees
- Pay no Legal fees
- No further mortgage payments
- Have cash within days (Instead of months)

End of the road*for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF)

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility.

We pay up to £100 a week.

Competition for jobs is heating up

A RECENT job advertisement for a council bin man attracted hundreds of applications from overqualified candidates, reflecting the findings of a new survey revealing job-seekers are resorting to increasingly desperate measures to secure employment.

Interviewgold.com, the leading online interview skills training website, carried out research which revealed 44 per cent of jobseekers would consider taking a drop in salary in order to land a job and a further 28 per cent would go even further and change career altogether.

Joe McDermott, CEO of Interviewgold.com said: "These statistics illustrate just how difficult the job market is at present.

"Despairing job seekers seem to be willing to go to any lengths just to get a foot in the door."

The survey also asked visitors to the site, if they would apply for a job for which they are overqualified just to gain employment, and a staggering 85 per cent said "yes".

According to McDermott, targeting lower paid positions or changing careers simply as a route into a job is not the best approach.

He added: "Many people see this as an easy way to get work. However, it is actually more difficult for over-qualified candidates to find a job.

"Employers are reluctant to employ over-qualified applicants as they fear they will leave as soon as something better comes up or they will get bored."

The Office for National Statistics recently announced that the number of people out of work in the UK has risen to 2.22 million, so it is hardly surprising jobseekers are considering alternatives.

McDermott's advice to those out of work is to focus on jobs for which you have the right experience, to make sure that your CV is up to date and your interview skills are first class.

BE A 'PROPERTY PROFESSIONAL'

Regardless of the recession, a new European Directive now legally requires an estimated 2.5 million homes and commercial properties being rented, sold or built to have an Energy Assessment this year alone. And more 'green environmental' laws are coming!

For example next year nearly every commercial property with air-conditioning must have an Assessment before the January 2011 deadline.

Applicants are therefore required to train now as multi-skilled 'Property Professionals' to carry out commercial and air-conditioning Energy Assessments and many other roles such as Flood and Fire Risk Assessments, Energy Audits, Insulation Surveys, Property Valuations, Home Condition Reports, Public Buildings Assessments etc.

No previous experience is necessary, training to join this new growth industry can usually be taken around current job at our nationwide training centres approved by the Government-appointed Awarding Body for the Built Environment and is subsidised. On qualifying start your own energy business, work for other Assessment Providers or be available for potential full or part-time work through our Energy Assessor Panel with earnings of £50 to £1,200 per Assessment.

Ring today for an interview and find out more about a career opportunity in this fast-expanding, new 'green' industry.

Marsh in gold run

TOM Marsh secured the EGU Gold Medal for the second successive year at Haverhill.

The junior player shot nett 63 in Division One of the Medal, which had the EGU Gold Medal attached.

Marsh's score was one too few for Stuart King and Scott Turner, who shared Division Two, and he will now have to wait and see if he will play later this year at Woodhall Spa.

Marsh also figured in the latest heat of the IFF Challenge, but he finished one shot behind Peter Garner, who hit 68. Jack Harris took the middle group and Dick Sisman triumphed among the high handicappers.

Catie Heathfield and Richard Peck won the annual Mick Beddoes Cup with 44 points, four ahead of Simon and Sally Price. Graham and Pat Kennedy were third. Kennedy was the winner of the ladies' May Stableford with 38 points, on countback from Lyn Fish, with Anna Fairhead third with 36.

But Kennedy and Sue Carr were knocked out of the Daily Mail Foursomes at Newmarket.

And the Cranworth Cup team were beaten 25-20 at Stoke by Nayland, the seniors beat The Suffolk 6½-1½ but lost to Bourn 4½-3½ and the juniors lost 3½-2½ in the Junior Team Handicap Cup.

Haverhill's fighters up to the grade

Wonderful Webb!

SCOTT Webb helped Haverhill end a series of bleak defeats by powering them to a vital victory over Brightlingsea in Division Two of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

Rated a "must-win" game, things did not start promisingly at the Manor as the visitors' opener was dropped four times before he had reached 50.

He went on to make 150 of their 259 for 7, with only a late clatter of wickets and an aggressive spell by Joe Woodley, who claimed three victims, keeping the seiders in check.

However, Webb and Neil Winter launched a brutal reply, reaching 88 in 10 overs on the way to a stunning opening stand of 186.

Webb reached 103 before being beaten by a slower delivery, but by then the foundations for the seven-wicket victory had been laid.

The result means victory at Hadleigh on Saturday would put Haverhill in the top five.

Weston Colville skipper Adie Westley took 4 for 16 and spinner Fred Scruby claimed three wickets as they beat Eaton Socon by 39 runs in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League.

Westley's men posted 121 for 9, with Arvid Gunderson hitting 30 and Carl Baker picking up a five-wicket haul. Eaton Socon were all out for just 82 in reply.

Captain Ricky Greiller struck 108 and three of his colleagues all passed 50 as St Ives crushed Horseheath by 228 runs in Division One of the CCA Senior League.

The skipper's three-figure tally was added to by Reuan Williams, Steve Setchell and Bevis Moynan, who all got half-centuries, as the hosts made a massive 345 for 8 (Gary Ellis 3 for 71). Horseheath went out with all guns blazing in reply as they attempted to pull off a miraculous run chase.

But although Dan Goldsmith (41) and David Brown (39) tried their best, the visitors were all out for just 117 as Matt Dack took five wickets in three overs.

■ Horseheath maintained the pressure on Adams Harrison Midweek League leaders Sawston by beating Haverhill in their Division One clash.

Robbie Ketteridge (34) and Martin Giles (32) helped the village side to 154 for 7 off their 20 overs against Gary Ellis (3 for 30) and Wes Walker (3 for 39). Adrian Dellar (34) and Sam Powell (33) could not get Haverhill any closer than 141 for 8.

Babraham's chances of retaining their title look to be over. Trevor Westley slammed 60 as Weston Colville battered their attack for 168 for 4 with Babraham reaching 155 for 8 in reply.
